Chaco & Aztec Culture:

The Center of the World

Tuesday, May 17th @ 7:00 p.m. via Zoom

For over 2,000 years, Pueblo peoples occupied a vast region of the south-western United States. Chaco Canyon, a major center of ancestral Pueblo culture between 850 and 1250, was a focus for ceremonials, trade and political activity for the prehistoric Four Corners area. Chaco is remarkable for its monumental public and ceremonial buildings and its distinctive architecture – it has an ancient urban ceremonial centre that is unlike anything constructed before or since. In addition to the Chaco Culture National Historical Park, the World Heritage property includes the Aztec Ruins National Monument and several smaller Chaco sites managed by the Bureau of Land Management.

This is an East End Libraries event with North Shore Public Library. Registration required.

"Untitled" by Hollye Gilbride

Photographer's Choice

Photography by Hollye Gilbride

Here's what Mattituck resident and library patron, Hollye Gilbride, has to tell us about her exhibit and her background in photography:

"I have loved taking and looking at photographs most of my life; I am one of those rare individuals who enjoys looking at your four hundred family vacation photos. Photography became a serious hobby for me upon my retirement."

"This will be my third exhibit at the Mattituck-Laurel Library. The first two were themed: the first, my trip to Cuba; the second, the North Fork of Long Island. So I decided that this exhibit would be for me, Photographer's Choice. Very eclectic. These are photos that I have taken during my travels, both close to home and far away. Some places will be recognizable, some not, some could be from anywhere to everywhere. I hope that this exhibit not only pleases me, but also pleases those who come to view it. ENJOY!"
