FIFTH ANNUAL BUILDING ON TRADITION CAMPAIGN GALA

In the fall of 2012, thanks to the strong support of our community, the NFCT purchased its “Home Sweet Home,” the building that has been our home since 1961. This year’s Building on Tradition Gala celebrates that purchase and look toward the future. Proceeds from this fundraiser will support improvements to the NFCT building and property. The evening’s live entertainment will include songs by NFCT performers from shows that have not yet been presented on the NFCT stage, including a preview of “Legally Blonde,” Youth on Stage’s 2013 summer show. There will be a passed hors d’oeuvres, buffet dinner, gift bags, raffles and a fun-filled live auction.

Thank you for your continued love and support. We hope you enjoy the celebration of the NFCT’s past and continue to be a part of NFCT’s future in our “new” old building. THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE HOME.

It takes a community to buy a theatre.

North Fork Community Theatre Buildings' History

Recycling may appear to be a recent concept, but here in Mattituck it's been a tradition. It's an expression of resourcefulness, and that's one of the outstanding characteristics of Mattituck people. It is conspicuous throughout their history, particularly in the way they manage to relocate, reuse, remodel, revitalize their buildings.

Take the North Fork Community Theatre for example. A hundred and fifty years ago, according to Rev. Craven in his History of Mattituck, the Presbyterians decide they'd outgrown their 115 year old meeting house, and so made plans to start on a new one. They voted to raise $1,500 and hired the brothers Salter and Thomas Horton of Peconic for the job.

By 1853 they were building again, this time under Master builder Andrew Gildersleeve. The 1830 structure was sold to Thomas Hallock and the newly organized Methodist Episcopal group, and was relocated just west of the burial ground, fronting Sound Avenue. At first it was under the charge of Cutchogue pastors, then the local group separated and hired its own. It steadily grew in membership, especially during W.A. Layton's revivals in the later 1800's.

Though their religious and ethnic roots were so close, and their chapels separated only by a few gravestones of their common ancestors, the Methodists and the Presbyterians of Mattituck for many years found themselves growing very far apart. In fact, says Craven, some Presbyterians were even reprimanded and disciplined before the session of the Elders for attending the service of "others". Eventually, conflict and competition gave way to friendship and cooperation.

In 1896, the Methodists moved the 1830 structure past the south end of their lot to serve as a chapel joined by sliding doors, to their new Church- this combination is basically the building we see today. The extra land they needed for their expansion was a gift from the Presbyterians. All too soon, hard times began to cloud their successes. Just before Christmas of 1900, the M.E. Trustees reluctantly consented to sell the parsonage and one lot to help ease their financial burdens. Having studied some of their minutes of their conferences from the turn of the century, I'm inclined to conclude the decline of the Mattituck Methodist Church occurred as a result of three factors. The members were not numerous enough, and their contributions not sufficient enough to meet the operating expenses, or the "enormous" debt of $3,500.00 they had incurred to erect their new church.

Sometime around 1914, most of them joined the Presbyterian congregation. Incidentally, Reverend Craven exceptionally broad-minded and ecumenical in spirit, had consistently advocated and practiced a policy of brotherly love and mutual respect between the two groups. He welcomed them as if they were his own family.

Around 1918, it was the Junior Order of United American Mechanics who bought the building for their new meeting hall. They renovated the interior, and turned the old chapel into a dining room. For the next thirty years "The lodge was the 'goingest' organization along the North Fork," says Donald Gildersleeve, "... they carried on their stated meetings, played pool, cards, and volley ball, held suppers and ladies' night, when they had entertainment, dancing and refreshments."

By the mid-fifties, the lodge membership had dwindled - some stayed home with their TV's, some joined the Lions.

Around 1960 the Presbyterians regained ownership and came to an agreement with J.S. Moreno, from Smithtown's Old Two Theatre, to convert the lodge into a theatre that would be used for summer productions - rent free. Ever since the North Fork Theatre opened its doors in June of 1961, it has been welcome by both local people and summer visitors as an institution that is carrying on the best traditions of three such places in Mattituck's past - Apollo Hall, Fischer's Hall, and Library Hall.

So a place that is almost as old as the town has not merely survived, but lived several useful lives, "recycled" through Mattituck resourcefulness.

In honor of all who serve the Theatre, and most particularly Mary,
who are undaunting in their efforts,
through charm and personality,
to build membership,
sustain good will and make us feel an integral and responsible part of NFCT.

BUILDING ON TRADITION CAMPAIGN

Thank you for helping to “build on the tradition” of over 54 years of live theater on the North Fork! With strong community support we have completed Phase One and have purchased the building that has been our home since 1961. Now on to Phase Two of the Building on Tradition Campaign which will include improvements to the theater.

You can continue to play an important role in helping us present quality entertainment to our audiences. How? Donate at nfct.com or become a volunteer. Email campaign@nfct.com or call 917-334-6639. It takes a community to buy a theater.
